DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

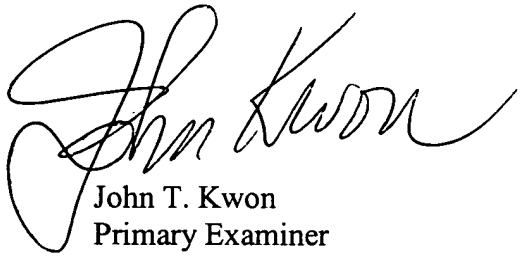

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-8 of U.S. Patent No. 6 701 892 in view of Imada (US 6 364 284). US patent '982 claims a throttle valve control apparatus with a magnetic type throttle sensor to detect the rotational angle of the throttle valve. However, US patent '982 does not show the use of a gear formed by a resin material. Imada shows that the use of a gear formed bya resin material for the throttle valve controller is old and well known in the art. Since the prior art references art from the same field of endeavor, the purpose disclosed by Imada would have been recognized in the pertinent art of US patent '982. Therefore, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide the device of US patent '982 with the gear of a resin material as taught by Imada.
